

DRM Lite on an Apple mobile device (iPad/iPhone/iPod Touch)

DRM Lite is an electronic delivery method that allows the British Library to deliver documents securely. When a document is requested via this service the document is locked so that only one user can access it, so you will have to register to use the service. This is separate from the registration process to submit interlibrary loan requests to University of Portsmouth Library.

The DRM Lite service has several advantages: there is no need to download any plugins, which can cause problems on University of Portsmouth computers, and the document is not tied to one computer. The document can be downloaded for up to 30 days after receiving notification of its arrival and, if saved, can be accessed for up to 3 years. It can also be printed to keep for ever.

Registering for British Library On Demand

The Library recommends registering with British Library On Demand before placing an interlibrary loan request so that when your document arrives you can just get on with reading it. It only takes a few minutes.

1. Go to <https://ondemand.bl.uk/onDemand/home> and click on Register:

2. On the next screen, click on Register:

3. Enter your details and click on Register:

Enter personal & security details

Previous Register

Use your University address and email address.

Create your own username and password and make a note of them. We recommend using your University login, but this may not be compatible with the security requirements:

- Username: at least 6 characters (avoid the @ symbol)
- Password: 8-20 characters, including capital, lower case, and number.

4. There may be a short wait with the message “Preparing your registration”. You will then see this screen:

7. You will be asked for some additional information.

The screenshot shows the British Library's 'On Demand' registration page. At the top left is the British Library logo. The main title 'On Demand' is prominently displayed in the center. Below the title, there is a sub-header 'Customise your contact details and additional information'. A note states: 'Fields marked with a * are mandatory' and 'The British Library collects additional information to help ensure we deliver the right services to our different audiences. Please see our Privacy policy for further information.' The form is divided into several sections:

- Contact Address: Contains fields for UK Postcode, Address Line 1*, Address Line 2, Address Line 3, Town or City*, County or State, Province or Region, Postcode/Zip Code*, and Country* (with a dropdown menu showing 'United Kingdom').
- Delivery Address: A question asking if the delivery address is the same as the contact address, with options 'Yes' (radio button) and 'No' (radio button).
- Contact Numbers: Fields for Home Number, Mobile Number, and Work Number, each with a 'Help' link.
- Additional Information: Fields for Job Function (dropdown menu 'Please select'), Sector (dropdown menu 'Please select'), and How did you hear about On Demand? (dropdown menu 'Please select').

At the bottom right of the form area is a large blue 'Next' button. At the very bottom of the page is a teal footer bar with links for 'Need help?' and 'Back to top'.

Only the starred fields are mandatory.

Use your University address.

Delivery address doesn't matter – delivery will be to your email address.

Only one phone number is needed.

Additional information is not required.

8. Accept the terms and conditions:

The screenshot shows a registration form for 'On Demand'. At the top left is the British Library logo. The main heading is 'On Demand'. Below it, a sub-header says 'bl.uk > On Demand registration'. The form asks to 'Accept On Demand terms and conditions'. It includes a checkbox for 'You must agree to these terms and conditions. *' and another for 'I accept the conditions of British Library On Demand *'. Buttons for 'Previous' and 'Finish' are at the bottom, along with a 'Need help?' link and a 'Back to top' button.

9. There may be a short wait while your registration is completed. You are then taken back to the On Demand home page:

The screenshot shows the 'On Demand' section of the British Library website. The top navigation bar includes links for Catalogues, Collections, Discover, Services, Visiting, Help, Register, and Login. The main title 'On Demand' is prominently displayed. Below it are 'New Search' and 'Search Results' buttons. A search bar with the placeholder 'What are you looking for?' and a magnifying glass icon is shown. A banner below the search bar reads: 'Search and order the latest research content direct from the British Library. Find journal articles, books, conference papers and more.'

10. You will also receive an email confirming your registration:

The screenshot shows an email from 'RegistrationNoReply@bl.uk' to a recipient whose address is redacted. The subject is 'British Library Service Registration Complete'. The email body thanks the user for registering and provides a link to access their account. It includes instructions for associating with a Business Account and contact information for Customer Services. A yellow warning triangle with an exclamation mark is overlaid on the right side of the email.

There is no need to associate your account with our Business Account.

11. You should wait 5 minutes after registering before attempting to download any documents.

Opening a document on an Apple mobile device

Documents ordered via the Interlibrary Loans Service are usually delivered electronically from the British Library. Once you have registered for a British Library On Demand account, follow the instructions below to open your document.

1. You will receive an email from the British Library when your document is available. Google Mail may see this as spam, so check your spam and junk folders. Click on the link to your document:

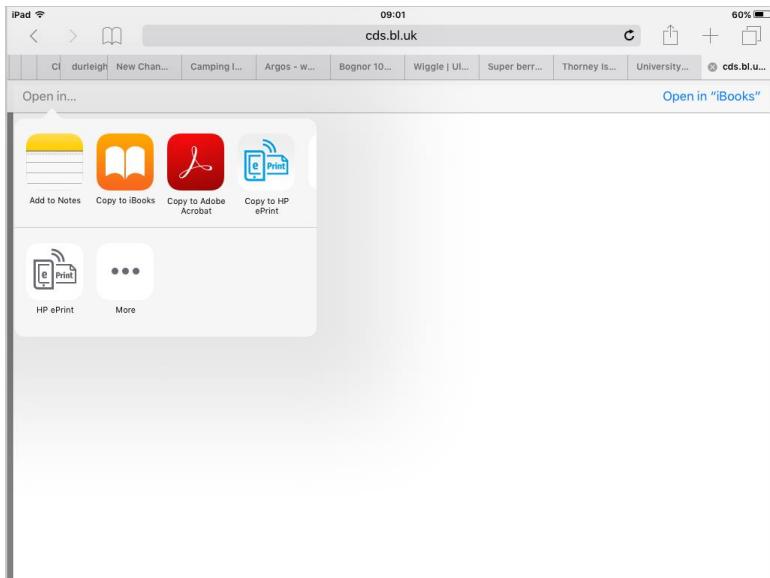

2. You will be taken to a web page where you can download your document:

The screenshot shows the 'On Demand DRM Lite' download page. It features the British Library logo and the text 'On Demand DRM Lite' with a large downward arrow icon. Below this is a button labeled 'Download your encrypted document'. A note explains that the document is encrypted using DRM Lite technology and should be opened with Adobe Reader. A callout box to the right says: 'The instructions below explain how to open the document with Adobe Reader.' Another callout box points to a 'Register For On Demand' button, stating: 'If you haven't registered yet, you can do so here.' A third callout box points to a 'Download your document' button, stating: 'Enter the username or email address that you used when you registered. You don't need to put both separated by a slash. Click on Download your document.' At the bottom, there are links for 'Get ADOBE READER' and 'Get more help and information on opening, reading and printing your documents.'

3. You must open the document with Adobe Reader or Adobe Acrobat.

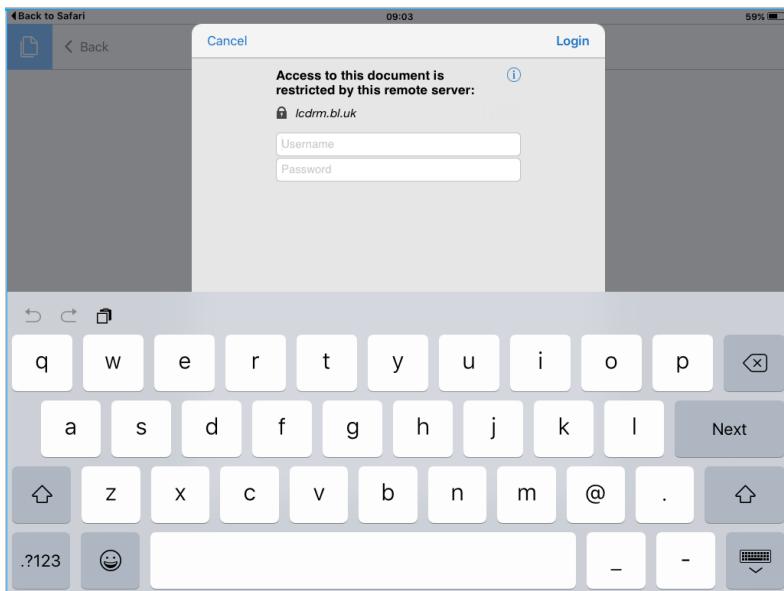

On an iPad, iPhone or iPod Touch, first make sure you have downloaded the Adobe Acrobat Reader app.

When you click on Download your document, it will try to open in Safari. This looks like a blank document, and Open in... will appear briefly at the top. Tap on the document to bring up the message again (you may need to tap on More), and tap on Open in....:

Select Copy to Adobe Acrobat.

4. Adobe Acrobat Reader opens. You may need to select Local in the list of PDFs to find your document. Enter your username and password:

This is the username and password you created when you registered.

5. You may be asked if you want to view secure documents offline:

If you are not sure, click No.

6. The document opens:

7. If you go back to the original page with the button to download your document, it is now locked to the person who logged in. No-one else can access the document, but you will be able to open it on other machines.

Saving and printing on an Apple mobile device

Once you have opened your DRM Lite document, we recommend saving or printing it to ensure continued access.

- You have 30 days to download your document from the day you receive the email.
- After 30 days the document is deleted from the British Library's servers, so the link in the email will no longer work.
- If you want access after this, you must save or print the document.

The document opens in Adobe Acrobat.

There is no central downloads folder on iPad/iPhone; your download will be stored in Adobe Acrobat, probably under Local. If you have lots of files stored here, you may want to move your interlibrary loan document to a more memorable location. In the Adobe Acrobat app, click on the 3 dots to create a new folder, or select the file and upload it to your Document Cloud.

Saving and printing limits

- Once saved, the document is accessible for 3 years. You can access it from any machine with internet access: navigate to the drive where you saved the document and enter your username and password.
- You can only print the document once.
- We recommend saving and/or printing as soon as possible to ensure that you don't lose it.
- You may forward the link to the document to another email address before you open it for the first time, but only one person may download the document

DRM Lite troubleshooting

Initial questions

If you are having problems with DRM Lite, it is helpful to Library staff to know the basics of what you are trying to do and your computer set-up.

1. What stage have you got to? What are you trying to do?
  - Have you registered for British Library On Demand? (N.B. this is different from registering for the system to request an interlibrary loan; British Library On Demand allows clients to open secure electronic documents.)
  - Trying to open/download a document by clicking on the link in the email from British Library
  - Trying to save a document
  - Trying to open a saved document
  - Trying to print a document
2. Which browser are you using?
3. Is it a standard Windows PC?
  - MAC/Linux?
  - Tablet/mobile device?
  - On campus or off campus?
  - Do you have an old version of Adobe Reader?
4. Is there an error message?
  - Get a screenshot if you can or find the exact error message. Search for the error message below.

Common issues

I forgot my username or password

If you have forgotten your username or password for British Library On Demand, go to <https://ondemand.bl.uk/onDemand/login/auth?currentPage=home> and click on Forgotten Username or Password?

To change your password, log in at <https://ondemand.bl.uk/onDemand/home>. Go to View/Update My Account Details, and enter your login again. Under the My Settings tab, you can change your password.

You must use Adobe Reader or Adobe Acrobat to open the document

If your computer is set up to use a different default pdf reader, such as your browser's pdf viewer, Foxit or Corel, it will not work. See the instructions on opening documents for your device.

You must be connected to the internet

Even if you have saved a document offline, you must be connected to the internet to open it.

The download link has expired

You have 30 days from when the email is sent by the British Library to open and save or print the document. If you do not save or print the document, the link in the email will stop working after 30 days as the document is removed from the British Library's servers.

Emails in spam

Some emails from the British Library are interpreted as spam. If you think you should have received your document, check your spam and junk folders.

Delay after registering

If you have just registered for British Library On Demand, you should wait for 5 minutes before attempting to download your document. If you get an error message, British Library may need to re-send the document to you.

Problems with downloading documents

There was a problem accessing your document, please try again later

The screenshot shows a page with a dark blue header containing the British Library logo and the text "On Demand DRM Lite". Below the header is a large downward-pointing arrow icon. A sub-header says "Download your encrypted document". A message states: "Your document has been encrypted using DRM Lite technology. Once you have downloaded this document, it will be locked to the following user:". Below this is another error message: "There was a problem accessing your document, please try again later". A note says: "You should open your document with Adobe Reader. If your browser has a built-in PDF viewer, such as Google Chrome's, you will need to disable it in order to download and view your document." Further down, it says: "To view your document in Adobe Reader you will need to enter your British Library On Demand username and password. You need to register for On Demand before you can view your document or reset your username or password if you have forgotten either of them." At the bottom are two links: "Download your document" with a large arrow icon, and "Get more help and information on opening, reading and printing your documents." There are also links for "Get Adobe Reader" and a "TEST" document.

Have you just registered for British Library On Demand in the last few minutes? There is a short delay between registering and being able to view your document.

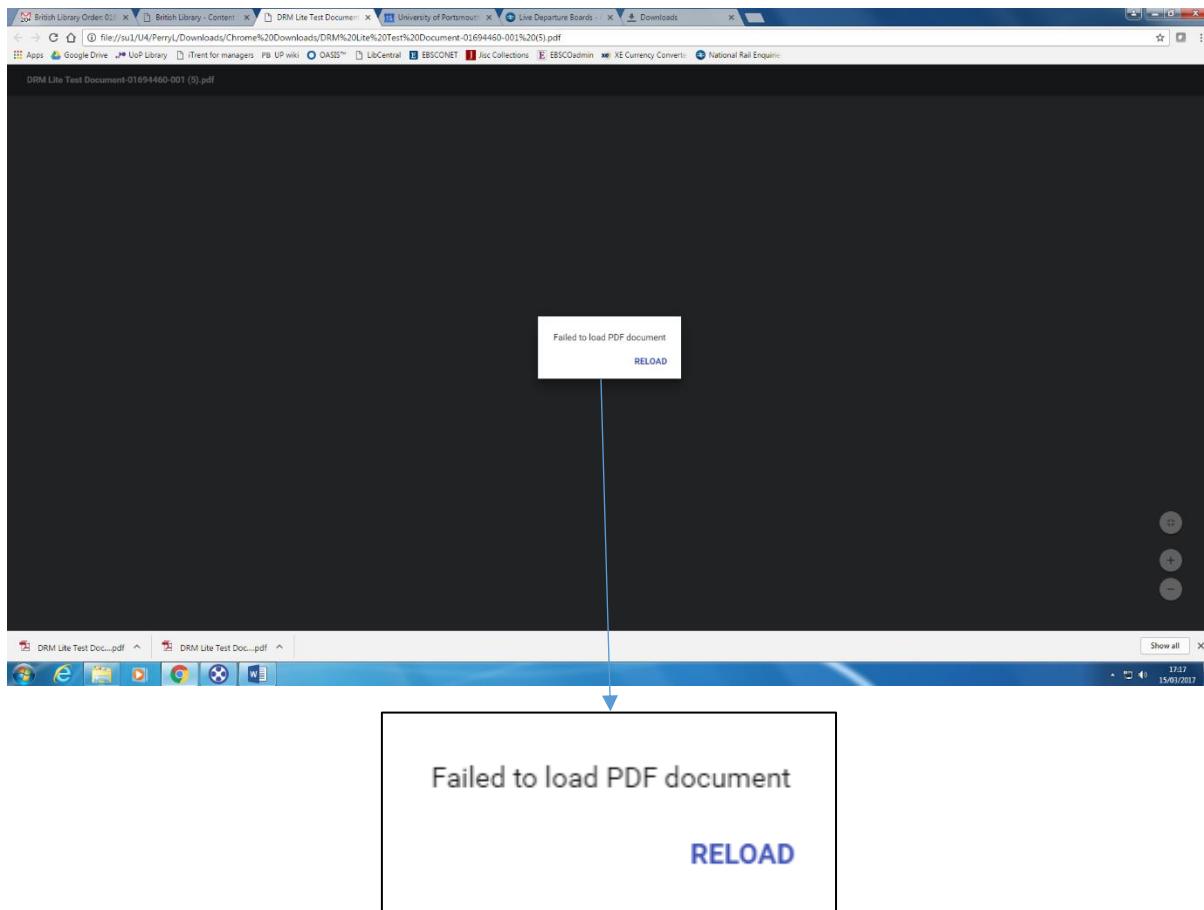

Solution: Wait for 5-10 minutes and try again.

Does your username contain the @ symbol?

Solution: contact British Library Customer Services for advice.

This also happens when the link to the document has expired. You have 30 days from when the email is sent by the British Library to open and save or print the document. If you do not save or print the document, the link in the email will stop working after 30 days as the document is removed from the British Library's servers. If you still need the document, you will have to submit another request and we will have to pay for it again.

Failed to load PDF document

Are you using Chrome? The document has tried to open in Chrome's built-in PDF reader.

Solution 1: Instead of just opening the document, go to your Chrome downloads folder and open with Adobe Reader (see the instructions above).

Solution 2: Disable the Chrome PDF reader:

- In the address bar type: chrome://settings/content
- Scroll down to PDF documents
- Tick Open PDF files in the default PDF viewer application

Couldn't open PDF or PDF error

Couldn't open PDF

Something's keeping this PDF from opening.

- Go back to the last page

The document has tried to open using the Edge browser's built-in PDF reader. This may happen even if you are using another browser, as Edge is the default PDF reader on campus.

Solution 1: Instead of just opening the document, go to your downloads folder and open with Adobe Reader (see the instructions above).

Solution 2: Disable the Edge PDF reader:

- Go the Start menu
- Go to Settings
- Select Apps
- Select Default apps
- Choose default applications by file type
- For .pdf files, select Adobe Acrobat Reader DC

Corel PDF Fusion was unable to read document

Corel may be set as your default PDF viewer. Solution: Instead of just opening the document, go to your downloads folder and open with Adobe Reader (see instructions above).

Cannot display PDF... pdf is of invalid format

Are you using an Android device? When you click on Download your document, the device tries to open the document in Chrome and this message flashes up briefly. This will not work as you have to open it with Adobe Acrobat Reader.

Solution: go to your Downloads app. Find your document, tap on it, and select Open with Adobe Acrobat.

The account information you entered is incorrect. Please try again.

This comes up when you are trying to open the document and enter the wrong username or password.

Solution: If you can't remember your username or password for British Library On Demand, go to <https://ondemand.bl.uk/onDemand/login/auth?currentPage=home> and click on Forgotten Username or Password?

User name entered not found, please retry

I have forgotten my username or password

Your document has been encrypted using DRM Lite technology. You should open your document with Adobe Reader. If your browser has a built-in PDF viewer, such as Google Chrome's, then you will need to disable it in order to download and view your document.

Step 1

Make sure you have registered with On Demand before downloading. Click the button below to register for On Demand or to reset your username and password if you have forgotten them.

Register For On Demand

Step 2

To download your document, enter your On Demand username or email address and click the link below.

On Demand username/email address:

Download your document

1. Where you are asked to enter your On Demand username or email address, this could be interpreted as needing both separated by a slash, as in the screenshot above. You only need to enter your username or email address, not both, e.g.:

Username: leonperry

Or

Email address: leon.perry@port.ac.uk

2. Check you have spelled it correctly.

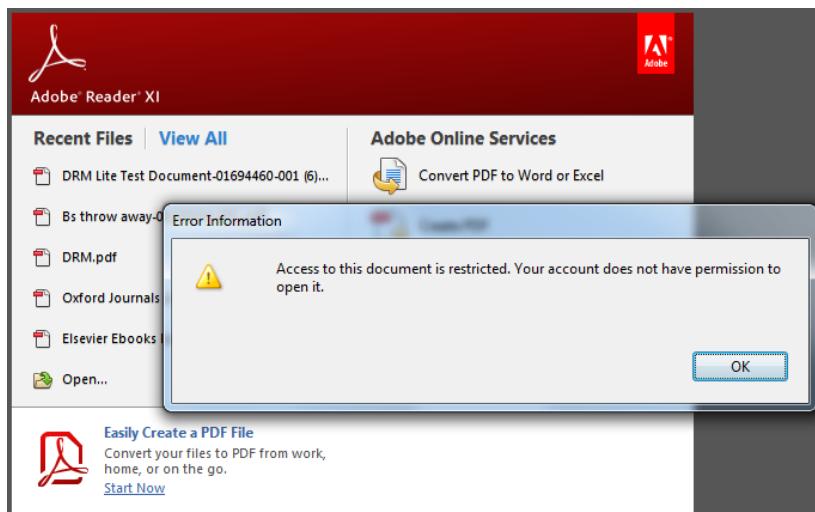

3. Are you using your login for British Library On Demand? This is not necessarily the same as the login you use to request interlibrary loans.

4. If you can't remember your username or password for British Library On Demand, go to <https://ondemand.bl.uk/onDemand/login/auth?currentPage=home> and click on Forgotten Username or Password?

End User supplied in Order not found

You may be clicking on Download your document without having registered. Make sure you have registered for a British Library On Demand account.

Access to this document is restricted. Your account does not have permission to open it.

1. If you have changed your password, or if you are on a shared computer or device, a previous user may have locked you out by selecting “Remember me on this computer”. If so:

- In Adobe Reader go to Edit > Preferences > Security.
- Click Clear remembered account information and confirm.
- Retry the download link.

2. If you just registered for a British Library On Demand account and tried to download the document within 5 minutes, the download will fail. Contact British Library Customer Services and ask them to re-send the document. You will need the reference number (e.g. ED01234).

This computer must be connected to the network in order to open this document.

This occurs because Adobe no longer support old versions of Transport Layer Security.

Step 1: make sure you have the most up-to-date version of Adobe Reader. We recommend version DC.

If you need to upgrade,

- On campus, go to AppsAnywhere and launch Adobe Acrobat DC, or go to the Microsoft System Center from the Start menu.
- Off campus, you can download the latest version for free from <https://get.adobe.com/uk/reader>
- For mobile devices, visit the app store.

When you open the document from the British Library, make sure you select Open with > Adobe Reader DC. Do not open with older versions such as X or XI.

Step 2: enable TLS 1.2

If updating your version of Adobe Reader doesn't help, you may need to enable a new version of Transport Layer Security (TLS) on your computer. To enable TLS 1.2, follow these instructions, depending on the browser you are using.

Other issues with downloading

Are you connected to the internet?

Even when you have saved a document, you still need online access every time you open it.

Do you have Adobe Reader installed? Which version of Adobe Reader do you have?

- You must have Adobe Reader 10 or above. We recommend version DC.
- Adobe Acrobat Reader is also fine. Adobe Reader is just for reading PDFs; Acrobat also lets you edit and create PDFs.

Everyone on campus should have the correct software installed automatically. However, it may not be set up as the default PDF reader, so make sure you open with Adobe Reader.

How to tell if you have Adobe Reader installed:

- Go to Start > All Programs
- If you have it, it should be listed here.

How to tell which version you have.

- Open Adobe Reader.
- Go to Help > About Adobe Reader

How to get Adobe Reader

Everyone on campus should have one of Adobe Reader XI or Adobe Acrobat Reader DC installed. If not, go to AppsAnywhere (on your desktop) or the Software Centre (Start > All Programs > Microsoft System Center > Software Center).

Off campus, you can download Adobe Acrobat Reader for free from:

<https://get.adobe.com/uk/reader/>

Do you have an unusual computer set-up?

Linux operating system: does not work

Windows phone: does not work

Macs (including MACBooks, iPads and iPhones): should all be OK. The device may try to view the PDF in Preview, in which case you will just see blank pages. You must force the device to open the document with the Adobe Reader app.

Android mobile device (tablet or phone)

This should work. See the separate instructions for downloading and saving on Android mobile devices.

Apple mobile device (iPad, iPhone, iPod Touch)

This should work. See the separate instructions for downloading and saving on Apple mobile devices.

If you are having problems, try downloading your document on a standard Windows PC on campus, which should have all the necessary software installed.

I haven't received the email with the link to the document

If our records or the British Library's records show that the email has been delivered, check in the spam and junk folders. Some clients have found the email there.

If it does go to spam, mark the email as "not spam" to reduce problems in future.

For documents delivered before 7th June 2017

If you are trying to access a saved document that was delivered before 7th June 2017, you will need to use FileOpen software as you did before. These DRM Lite instructions will not apply to older documents. Saved FileOpen documents will be accessible for 3 years.

Problems with registering for British Library On Demand

See the full instructions on registering for how the process should work. This section focuses on the main potential problems.

There are several stages:

1. Form with personal details. Make up your own username and password.
2. You get an email from British Library. Click on the link to activate your account.
3. Fill in another form with more details.

Stage 1: enter personal details.

The starred fields are mandatory.

If you click on Register but nothing happens, check to see if there is missing information or if any fields have red crosses next to them:

Username and password: we recommend using your UoP email address and network login details as this makes it easy to remember, but this may not fit with the British Library's requirements.

Click in the box next to the red cross for an explanation of what the problem is.

For example, username has failed:

The screenshot shows a registration form titled "Security details". It includes fields for Username, Password, Confirm password, Secret question, and Secret answer. The "Username" field contains "test". A tooltip on the right side of the screen provides validation rules for the username:

- The username must:
  - Be between 6 and 256 characters in length
  - Not include spaces
  - Not be your Reader Number.

Here the password is not secure enough:

The screenshot shows a registration form with the same fields as the previous one. The "Password" field contains "....". A tooltip on the right side provides validation rules for the password:

- The password must be:
  - Between 8 and 20 characters in length
- The password must contain the following:
  - At least one uppercase character from A to Z
  - At least one lowercase character from a to z
  - At least one numeric character from 0 to 9

Below the form, there is a section titled "Terms & Conditions" with a checkbox labeled "Accept The British Library Online Account Terms & Conditions *". The checkbox is checked.

Make sure you tick to accept the terms and conditions.

How did you hear about On Demand ?

The address and phone number are not very important for University students and staff; this form is also aimed at individuals who are not affiliated to organisations. If you're not sure what to put, use your University contact details.

Delivery address: this is irrelevant as documents will be delivered electronically.

There may be a wait while your registration is completed. When everything is finished, you get an email headed British Library Service Registration Complete.

The email suggests associating your account with the University's Business Account. There is no need to do this.
