Please Note

This is an example of formatting for a range of sources which might be expected in a bibliography here at University of Portsmouth using OSCOLA Referencing with pinpointed footnotes. This has been adapted to provide a format suitable for shorter assignments and undergraduate dissertations. It DOES NOT reflect unit handbook guidance on document format simply to minimise the number of pages. If you are looking for other examples a number of Oxford journals use OSCOLA but remember the version we are using has only been in use since 2011 so look at newer issues. This document applies OSCOLA guidance from pages 10-2 [1.7] & [1.6.2-3] specifically. It has been adapted to provide a format suitable for shorter assignments and undergraduate dissertations.
